Reviews

Simply no terms to explain. I am quite late in start reading this one, but better then never. Its been written in an remarkably easy way and is particularly merely soon after i finished reading this book where basically changed me, affect the way i really believe.

The supply of water was 200 feet per second; there was little control held over it by the durbar. The more powerful landholders, in connivance with the canal establishment, turned it off to their own lands, and it seldom reached Lahore until a party of horsemen had been sent to close up all the outlets into which it had been directed. Expenses. 3rd. The annual expenses were 6,000 rupees, exclusive of the labour of certain villages, given instead of water rent. Revenue. 4th. The revenue in 1847 was 20,000 rupees per annum, and after the de duction of the expense of establishment, the net revenue was 20,000. Canal placed under 5th. IQ February, 1850, the canal was placed under the charge of Major Major Langden. Langden, H. M. s 10th regiment, who was directed to turn his attention to Instructions to increase the supply of water, repair and strengthen the bunds, to regulate the jor ng en. irrigation, and to correct the abuses practised by the revenue establishment, by whom much irrigation was concealed, and issues of water fraudulently made. Establishment. 6th. Major Langden s establishment for this work at present is as follows: -- one assistant civil engineer, Mr. B. Browne; one darogah; one naib darogah; five moonshees; three jemadars; thirty-eight chowkedars; one sowar. Channel origin-7th. It was originally intended that the channel of the Husli, improved, ally intended to be shoul(l form the Lahore branch of the new canal: but it was...
